Public Meeting: Overview, tax rate and grant timeline

Q: Who is facilitating this process?

A: Public discussion with the arts community is being facilitated by Councilperson Mira Prinz-Arey, Christine Goodman (Cultural Affairs), Vernon Richardson (Mayor's Office) with the Jersey City Arts Council.

Q: Who is on the Arts & Culture Trust Committee?

A: The Committee has not been formed yet. The Committee structure and goals will be addressed at the next Arts meeting. The Committee structure will be voted on by City Council.

Q: Is the Arts & Culture Trust Committee going to be the ones creating the goals, and structure of the grants?

A: The public meetings will provide space and opportunity for the arts community to discuss drafts and have the opportunity to offer feedback before these items move forward. Drafts are created by:

- Feedback from previous public meetings with the arts community
- Direct suggestions from Jersey City arts leaders
- Existing models and best practices
- Legal review
- Concerns from residents

Once the Arts & Culture Trust Committee is formed, it will have a lot of work to do to keep this undertaking on schedule. We aim to line up all elements for the Committee review. This includes drafts of all items relating to the grant process that the arts community has had the opportunity to review and discuss.
